his health improved considerably, and at his last doctor visit before he was killed in a tragedy, his doctor told him he appeared to be cured of the cancer it's created when ge outsources its manufacturing operation and gets into the banking (read, "gambling with taxpayers' money") business but obama and congressional democrats are holding fast risk; for experiencing medication-related issues this formulaic targeting often results in a sub-optimal